MARINO CASEM

Marino “The Godfather” Casem is a former American football coach and athletic administrator. He served as the head football coach of Alabama State University, Alcorn State University, and Southern University. During Casem’s tenure, Alcorn State University won seven Southwestern Athletic Conference (SWAC) football championships and seven Black College National Championships. In 1984, Casem led Alcorn State to a perfect 9-0 regular season. The team was ranked number one in the final NCAA Division 1-AA poll; the first time a black college had ever finished the regular football season in that position. Casem compiled a record of 139-70-8 (86-48-7 in the SWAC), making him the all-time winningest coach in Alcorn State University’s history.

As Alcorn State’s Athletic Director, Casem also oversaw thirteen regular season men’s basketball titles and three regular season women’s basketball championships. In 1979, Alcorn State’s men’s basketball team became the first historically black university to capture a win in the National Invitational Tournament (NIT). Casem has been inducted into the SWAC Hall of Fame, Alcorn State Hall of Honor, and Mississippi Sports Hall of Fame, and received the National Football Foundation Outstanding Contribution to Amateur Football Award and the Football Writers Association Citation of Honor.
